Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe is poised to submit a new application to the County for commercial aquaculture within the boundary of Dungeness NWR. The Tribe's Natural Resources Program Manager and their Shellfish Biologist will meet with Sue and me to provide an overview of their proposal on December 20th. The County has set a public hearing date of February 7 to make a ruling on the new proposal. We understand that ACE will soon hold a public meeting as well, but we do not know when that will be scheduled (rumors are that it will be some time in December).

As soon as the County posts the application, I will make an attempt to send the link to the documents and my best attempt at a summary. Given the holidays, we might have limited dates available to discuss our approach to the County and ACE comment periods. Just wanted to put it on your radar, so we can think about having a conversation in early/mid January (if submission/posting/etc meet the suggested timeline).

Hope you are having a great week and I look forward to chatting soon.
