Amy,

If you have few minutes today or Monday, we would like to chat about SpaceX's current launch plans. We believe they are currently targeting April 7th or 8th. Those dates appear to be restricted in the PEA due to the Easter holiday. If all other pieces fall into place in time to support a launch that weekend (which is possible but not certain at this point), we believe SpaceX will attempt to seek some relief from those restrictions or try to propose their interpretation of them. In the event that they do, we would like to make sure we are coordinated in our position across agencies.

Thanks,

Dan

Amy -

We haven't caught up in a bit and would like to catch up. Do you have time to meet in the next week or two? I can coordinate with Stacey to get something that aligns with our offices.

Thanks – hope you are well!
